

Adult Instruction: To play well and really enjoy yourself on the course, you must be able to predict the outcome of your swing. Of course, you must have sound basics: Grip, Aim, Stance, and Posture, but beyond these key ingredients, you must understand how the club and ball work in order to be successful. Our approach to teaching golf is to help you “see” the club and ball interaction so that you can actually influence it. We will help you develop a way to play your best game, not just show you our way and force you to conform to it. You’ll find out that golf really can be fun!

Our innovative concepts are designed to create a concrete understanding that results in virtually immediate swing improvement.

Our subtle teaching style will allow you to simply apply the club to the ball differently using your new understanding about what has to happen through impact. You’ll be amazed when you see how applying these concepts will not only enable you to create the desired ball flight, but you’ll be better prepared to deal with problems in your game when they arise!

Private Lessons are custom tailored to each individual. During the instruction process we will evaluate your technique and give you the understanding, the visualization, and the feel you need to truly know “your own” golf swing. Not only will you know what “to” do to cause the desired ball flight, you’ll know what you tend to do when you go wrong and then be able to fix problems quickly on the course.
